

06 January 2025

Rithesh B R
Bangalore

This contract of employment is entered into between Intertrustviteos Corporate and Fund Services Private Limited, also known as the “company” and Rithesh B R.

As conditions to this Agreement, you represent and warrant that, in entering into and performing your duties under this Agreement, you are not subject to any express or implied restriction that might hinder or prevent you from performing any of the duties in full and you have (and will maintain for the entirety of your employment) any requisite and valid visa, work permit, or immigration permission which permit you to be employed by the company.

It is a condition of the employment that you have and maintain the right to work in India. You must immediately notify the company of any change to your visa, work permit, or immigration status. You agree that the company may contact the relevant authorities in India at any time to confirm that you have the right to work in India. Notwithstanding any other term of this Agreement, if at any point you do not have the right to work in India, the company may terminate your employment immediately without notice.

The terms and conditions of this Agreement are as follows:

JOB SPECIFIC INFORMATION

Commencement, term

Your employment with the company will begin on January 16, 2025, Your period of continuous employment will be deemed to have commenced on that date.

Job Title

You will be employed as GCF Title: Trainee and Job Title: Graduate Trainee.

Reporting line

In this position, you will initially report to Chanchal Rajkumari. Over time, this reporting relationship may change, and you may report to a new leader.

Duties

In addition to your normal duties, you may also be required to perform such additional or alternative duties and tasks from time to time as reasonably required by the company. You will not, however, be entitled to any extra salary or other compensation for performing these duties.

You will devote the whole of your working time, attention, and abilities to your duties for the company under this Agreement, unless you are absent from work due to scheduled leave, ill health, incapacity, injury, or the company's request.

You will faithfully and diligently perform, to the best of your ability, your duties and use your best endeavours to promote the interests of the company and all of the company's parent and affiliated entities (each, a "group company" and collectively, the "group companies") for whom you are required to work.

Unless you are notified in writing otherwise, you will have no authority to enter into any transactions on behalf of the company or any group companies, and you may not pledge the credit of the company or any group companies.

Place of work

The company's office is presently situated at #43, Electronics City, Phase I, Hosur Road, 560100 Bangalore, Karnataka, India and, therefore, normally, you will be working from this office. Should the office move in the future, the company may require you to change your place of work to such new office.

You may be required to travel on company business anywhere in the world. It is not envisaged that you will be required to work for extended periods outside of the office city or country. Please discuss travel required for your position with your leader. If circumstances change so that extended travel becomes necessary, this change will be discussed fully with you.

Working hours

You are required to work such hours as deemed necessary to fulfil the duties and responsibilities of your position, normally 45 hours per week, Monday through Friday. Work hours are set by the appropriate manager to satisfy the needs of the company and its customers. The company reserves the right to vary your working hours on reasonable notice to you and in accordance with applicable law.

Compensation

You will be paid INR 338,400/- per annum, less required taxes and other withholdings as required by law. You will receive your first pay on the month following your hire date. Salary will be paid to you monthly on the last working day of each month. It is the company's current policy to review remuneration on an annual basis.

The company also has a short-term incentive program known as Success Sharing. This is a discretionary annual bonus program and can be amended or withdrawn by the company at any time. Success Sharing bonuses are provided to employees based on company and individual performance.

The fact that a bonus is paid in one period is no guarantee that a bonus will be paid in a subsequent period. You shall not be entitled to compensation for loss of any bonus on termination of employment.

In addition to pay deductions for taxes or other withholdings as required by law, you authorise the company to make deductions from your wages (in accordance with applicable law) for:

- Any sum of money which you owe to the company.
- Holiday-annual leave pay paid to you in excess of holiday-annual leave which has accrued to you.
- Any other sums paid to you in error or as a result of a misrepresentation on your part.
- The value of any loans made to you by the company.

The company will endeavour to notify you of its intention to make any such deduction before doing so.

The company shall comply with applicable social security and pension laws in India.

The company shall provide the benefits listed in Annex I to this Agreement.

TIME AWAY FROM WORK

Holiday-annual leave

You are entitled to paid holiday-annual leave each year in accordance with applicable law and the company's policies from time to time. You are encouraged to take your full holiday-annual leave entitlement. The company's holiday-annual leave year is a calendar year. You are permitted to carry over certain of your holiday-annual leave entitlement to the following holiday year in accordance with applicable law and the company's policies from time to time.

Upon termination of employment, you shall either be entitled to pay in lieu of any outstanding holiday-annual leave entitlement or be required to repay to the company pay received in respect of holiday-annual leave taken in excess of your accrued holiday entitlement.

All requests for holiday-annual leave should be approved by your manager in advance and usually should not be longer than two weeks at a time.

In addition, you will be provided with paid time off for certain public holidays in India in accordance with applicable law and the company's policies from time to time.

Other absences

If you are unable to attend work for any reason, you must inform your manager by telephone as soon as possible and in any event not later than one hour before the time that you were supposed to start work. Any unauthorised absence must be properly explained.

If absent because of illness or injury, you should give an indication of the nature of your illness and how long you think you are likely to be away from work. The company reserves the right to request a medical certificate for absences. The medical certificate should be forwarded to the Human Resources Department. If your illness continues after expiry of the first certificate, further certificates must be obtained regularly as necessary to cover the whole period of absence and forwarded to the Human Resources Department as soon as possible.

COMPANY POLICIES

You are expected to comply with the company's values and all policies, procedures, standards, and guidelines of the company as may be published or circulated by the company from time to time, inclusive of our Global Handbook and information security policies signed at the time of hire and periodically once hired. These rules and procedures do not form part of your contract of employment and may be varied from time to time.

RESTRICTIONS

Without prejudice to your implied duties of loyalty and good faith, during your employment with the company, you will not engage in any activities competitive with the company or any group company, including soliciting clients to transfer their business away from the company or relevant group company, or employees to leave the company or relevant group company.

Confidentiality

You shall neither during your employment (except in the proper performance of your duties) nor at any time (without limit) after the termination of your employment (i) divulge or communicate to any person, company, business entity, or other organisation, (ii) use for your own purposes or for any purposes other than those of the company or any group company or (iii), through any failure to exercise due care and diligence, permit, or cause any unauthorised disclosure of, any confidential information, provided that these restrictions shall cease to apply to any information which shall become available to the public generally otherwise than through an unauthorised disclosure by you or any other person.

For the purposes of this Agreement, "confidential information" shall mean, in relation to the company or any group company, trade secrets; information relating to research activities, inventions, discoveries, secret processes, designs, know-how, technical specifications and processes, formulae, intellectual property rights, computer software, product lines and any other technical information relating to the creation, production or supply of any past, present, or future product or service; any inventions or improvements which you may make or discover during your employment; any information relating to the business or prospective business of the company or any group company; details of suppliers, their services, and their terms of business; details of clients and their requirements, the prices charged to them, and their terms of business; pitching material, marketing plans and sales forecasts of any past, present, or future products or services; information relating to the business, corporate plans, management systems, accounts, finances, and other financial information, results and forecasts (save to the extent that these are included in published audited accounts); proposals relating to the acquisition or disposal of a company or business or any part thereof; proposals for expansion or contraction of activities, or any other proposals relating to the future; details of employees and officers and of the remuneration and other benefits paid to them; information given in confidence by clients, customers, suppliers, or any other person; any other information which you are notified is confidential or which you reasonably ought to realise is confidential; and any other information which the company (or relevant group company) could reasonably be expected to regard as confidential, whether or not such information is reduced to a tangible form or marked in writing as “confidential”, including, but not limited to, information which is commercially sensitive, which comes into your possession by virtue of your employment and which is not in the public domain and all information which has been or may be derived or obtained from any such information.

You acknowledge that all notes, memoranda, records, lists of customers and suppliers and employees, correspondence, documents, computer and other discs and tapes, data listings, databases, codes, designs and drawings, and any other documents and material whatsoever (whether made or created by you or otherwise) relating to the business of the company and any group company (and any copies of the same) or which is created or stored on the company's equipment and systems (i) shall be and remain the property of the company or the relevant group company and (ii) shall be handed over by you to the company or the relevant group company on demand and in any event on the termination of your employment, and you shall certify that all such property has been so handed over and that no copies or extracts have been retained.

This clause shall only bind you to the extent allowed by law, and nothing in this clause shall prevent you from making a statutory disclosure.

Intellectual property

The company is entitled on request to full details in writing of all works embodying intellectual property rights made wholly or partially by you at any time during your employment which relate to, or are reasonably capable of being used in, the business of any group company. You acknowledge that all intellectual property rights subsisting (or which may in the future subsist) in all such Inventions and works shall automatically, on creation, vest in the company absolutely. To the extent that they do not vest automatically, you hereby assign to the company, in perpetuity, and on a worldwide basis, all right, title and interest that you may have or may hereafter acquire in the intellectual property on worldwide basis, including but not limited to all copyrights, patents, trademarks, and other intellectual property rights therein, and such assignment shall not be subject to any limitations or restrictions as to the territory, duration, or usage of assigned intellectual property. You agree promptly to execute all documents and do all acts as may, in the opinion of the company, be necessary to give effect to this intellectual property clause.

You hereby irrevocably waive all moral rights under any law and in any jurisdiction which you have or will have in any existing or future works referred to in this clause.

For the purposes of this Agreement, “intellectual property” means patents, utility models, trademarks, design rights, applications for any of the foregoing, copyright, moral rights, database rights, rights in databases, performers’ rights, know-how, secret processes, inventions, developments, discoveries, improvements or processes, trade or business names, domain names, goodwill and the right to sue for passing off, and all other intellectual property rights, in each case whether registered or unregistered, including all applications and rights to apply for, and be granted renewals and extensions of, such rights and all similar rights in any country whether currently existing or created in the future, together with the right to sue for and recover damages or other relief in respect of infringements of any of them.

Non-competition

You acknowledge that the company has a legitimate interest in protecting its business and goodwill. Therefore, without prior written approval of the Human Resources Department, during your employment and for a period of [(12) months] from the date of termination of your employment or commencement of any period of garden leave, whichever is earlier, you agree that you shall not own, manage or operate, or participate in the ownership, management, or operation of, or be engaged as an officer, director, employee, partner, principal, agent, representative, consultant, or independent contractor, or otherwise be connected with, or render services or advice to, any individual, business, or enterprise which is or may be competitive with, the company or relevant group company’s business (as defined below) for the purposes of providing services the same as or similar to those that you provided to the company or any group company. It shall not be a violation of this subsection for you to become the registered or beneficial owner of up to [(3%)] of the ownership shares of a competing publicly traded company, provided that you do not actively participate in the management or operation of such company until such time as this covenant expires.

For purposes of this Agreement, “business” means any services and products offered by the company and any group companies prior to your separation from employment, including, without limitation, business entity formation or similar services; the creation, filing, and retrieval of information and documents with public agencies or public or private registries; intellectual property; domain name; registered or resident agent services; domain name services; litigation management; compliance; administrative trust; independent director; passive investment company services; and tax solutions.

Non-solicitation

During your employment and for a period of 12 months from the date of termination of your employment or commencement of any period of garden leave, whichever is earlier, you agree that you shall not (i) solicit or persuade any restricted customer of the company or any group company to alter or curtail such restricted customer's relationship with the company or any group company or counsel or assist another person or entity to do so or (ii) solicit, recruit, or attempt to persuade any restricted employee to terminate their employment with the company or any group company, whether or not such person is a full-time employee or whether or not such employment is pursuant to written agreement.

For the purposes of this Agreement, "relevant period" means, if you are still employed by the company or any group company, the period of your employment and, if your employment with the company or any group company has terminated for any reason, the 12 months immediately preceding the date of the termination of your employment.

For the purposes of this Agreement, "restricted customer" means any person, firm, company, or other organization who during the relevant period was a client of or in the habit of dealing with the company or any group company and with whom, in the course of your employment, you had personal dealings or were responsible for on behalf of the company or any group company.

For the purposes of this Agreement, "restricted employee" means any person who during the relevant period was employed by the company or any group company in a senior or managerial capacity and who could materially damage the interests of the company or any group company if they became employed in any competing business and with whom you worked closely or were responsible for during the relevant period.

Remedies and reformation

Should you breach any of the covenants set forth in this Agreement, you further agree that the company shall be entitled to seek preliminary and permanent injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of these restrictions, without the necessity of proving actual damages or the posting of any bond, in addition to any other remedy to which the company or any group companies may be entitled as a result of your breach, as well as reasonable attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses.

If any court of competent jurisdiction shall determine that the scope, time, or geographic restrictions set forth herein are unreasonable or invalid, then such restrictions shall be enforced to the fullest extent that such court deems reasonable, and this Agreement shall thereby be altered, modified, and reformed so as to protect the company's and any group company's legitimate business interests to the maximum extent permitted by law.

You agree that if you receive an offer of employment, consultancy, directorship, or other office or partnership during the continuance in force of any of the above, you will, prior to acceptance of an offer, provide the party making the offer with copies of these restrictions and details of your notice period, the restrictions on your use and disclosure of confidential information and the clauses dealing with copyright and inventions.

You acknowledge that the company is entering into this Agreement not only for itself but as trustee for each group company and with the intention that the company or any group company will be entitled to seek the protection of and enforce each of these restrictions directly against you. If requested to do so by the company, you will at any time enter into like restrictions as those contained in this “restrictions” section (mutatis mutandis) with any other group company.

TERMINATION AND NOTICE PERIODS

Probationary period

If you have joined at Grade AVP2 and above, you will be deemed confirmed from your date of joining. Otherwise, you will be on probation for a period of 6 months from your date of joining. Probation tenure for trainees will be 12 months from the date of joining., during which, either party may terminate this Agreement on one month’s written notice or, in the case of the company, may terminate this Agreement upon payment of one month’s salary net of payroll deductions in lieu of notice.

The company may at its sole discretion extend the probationary period, and during this extended probationary period either party may terminate the employment by serving one month’s written notice or, in the case of the company, a payment of one month’s salary net of payroll deductions in lieu of notice.

If either party exercises their rights as set out in the probationary period section of this Agreement, you will not be entitled to any payments by way of bonus or other benefit.

Retirement

You shall automatically retire from the company on attaining the age of sixty (60) years (as per the date of birth declared by you to the company at the time of commencement of your employment) and this Agreement shall terminate on that date. In accordance with applicable law, the company may, subject to discussion with you and your acceptance in this regard, extend the term of your appointment under this Agreement beyond the age of 60 years, for such period as may be mutually agreed between you and the company.

Notice periods

After the satisfactory completion of your probationary period, you must give the company two months’ notice in writing to terminate your employment. Should the company wish to terminate your employment [after satisfactory completion of your probationary period], it will give you two months’ notice. The company may in its absolute discretion choose to terminate your employment at any time and make you a payment of your salary in lieu of any unexpired period of notice. Payment shall be subject to deductions for taxes and other withholdings as required by law.

Notwithstanding any other term of this Agreement, if you are guilty of gross misconduct or serious, wilful neglect of duty, the company will have the right to terminate your employment with immediate effect without giving you any notice and without making you any payment in lieu of that notice. Gross misconduct will include, but is not limited to, any act of dishonesty committed in relation to your employment; the submission of false records or expense claims; any act or threat of violence or physical or sexual assault; any abuse of the company's IT infrastructure (inclusive of the downloading, receipt, or sending of pornography or other offensive materials); the wilful misuse or disclosure of the company's or any group company's confidential information or other intellectual property; attempts to solicit away clients or potential clients of the company or any group company to transfer business away from the company or any group company for the purposes of a competitor, or employees to leave the company or any group company; engaging in any form of sexual, racial, or other harassment at work; consuming or being under the influence of alcohol during working hours (without proper consent from the company); or consuming, being under the influence of, or supplying controlled drugs and other illegal substances while at work.

The company may, during any period of notice given by either you or the company as specified in this section, at its discretion:

- Suspend you from the performance of all or part of your duties.
- Exclude you from the company premises.
- Require you to work from home.
- Require you not to contact any employees, advisers, suppliers, or clients of the company or any group company.
- Require you to resign immediately from any office or directorship you may hold in the company or any group company.
- Require you to perform special projects.

If the company exercises any of its above rights as set out in this section, your salary will still be payable and you will still be entitled to your contractual benefits and you will continue to be bound by your obligations of loyalty and good faith.

MISCELLANEOUS

Travel and business-related expenses

You may be required to undertake business-related travel, including international travel, at the company's expense. In such circumstances, you will receive reimbursement of business expenses reasonably and actually incurred in accordance with the company's expense reimbursement policy. All travel must be approved in advance by the relevant manager. All travel should be performed in a cost-effective manner.

Personal data

In this contract of employment, the term “personal data” shall have the meaning given to such term under any applicable data protection legislation.

The company will collect, hold, record, process, use, disclose, share and transfer to third parties and group companies (whether within India or outside) your personal data details such as your name, address, telephone number, photograph, educational qualification, details of relatives, all employment-related and compensation-related information, government-issued identification and related information, age and emergency contact details, and any other personal data of sensitive nature such as passwords, financial information or bank details, sexual orientation, physical or mental health conditions, medical records, or biometric information in accordance with the applicable data protection legislation, this Agreement and the company’s policy (“Personal Data Policy”).

Full details of the types of personal information that the company collects about you and information about how the company processes personal information, including the purposes for processing and the legal grounds it relies on to carry out such processing, are set out in the Personal Data Policy [provided with this contract of employment].

As set out in further detail in the Personal Data Policy:

- i. Your personal data may be processed by the company (other group companies) to the extent necessary in connection with (a) the performance of this contract of employment, (b) your employment or continued employment or (c) any applicable law or regulation.
- ii. The company (other group companies) may process personal data (including personal data of sensitive or special nature) to the extent necessary in connection with (a) your employment and the performance of this Agreement, (b) the company’s disciplinary purposes and your fitness to carry out duties on behalf of the company (or other group companies), (c) any applicable law or regulation or (d) (where it relates to sexuality, marital status, race, ethnic origin or disability) for the purpose of equal opportunities monitoring; and
- iii. Your personal data may be transferred to other group companies, including to Human Resources and Legal Departments and outside counsel of the company and its group companies in accordance with the applicable data protection legislation. Where data is transferred, the company and its group companies will take all necessary measures to ensure that transfers are adequately protected as required by applicable data protection law. This will include using appropriate safeguards by way of a valid data transfer mechanism, such as through the execution of an international data transfer agreement, where required and in accordance with applicable law.

You shall use all reasonable endeavours to keep the company informed of any changes to your personal data. Your rights in relation to your personal data are set out in the Personal Data Policy.

You agree that your personal data may be shared with government agencies mandated under the law to obtain information for the purpose of verification of identity, or for prevention, detection, investigation including cyber incidents, prosecution, and punishment of offences. The company may also disclose your personal data to any third party pursuant to an order under the law in force, for instance, when responding to summons or similar legal process, to protect against fraud and to otherwise cooperate with law enforcement or regulatory authorities.

The company (or any other group company) shall seek permission from you to collect, hold, record, process, use, disclose, share, and transfer to third parties and group companies (whether within India or outside) personal data (including personal data of sensitive nature) in accordance with the applicable data protection legislation, where such collecting, holding, recording, processing, using, disclosing, sharing, and transfer is not covered by another legal basis, including those listed above and in the Personal Data Policy.

Background check

All offers of employment are contingent upon the employee passing a clear and complete background check. By signing this contract, you explicitly consent to CSC conducting this background check. In some circumstances an employee may begin work before we receive the returned background check. In the event a background check is returned that includes a serious crime or a crime that could put our employees, clients, or CSC's ethics and standards at risk, employment with the company will end. In the event the employee did not disclose important criminal information or falsified a pre-employment or employment record in any way, this may be cause for immediate termination without notice or pay.

Issues, grievances, and disputes

Any disciplinary action in relation to your employment will be subject to the disciplinary procedure of the company, which is of a policy nature only and does not form part of your contract of employment.

If you have a grievance relating to your employment, you should report this, in writing, to your manager. Where your grievance is about your manager, the matter should be raised with the Human Resources Department.

Return of property

You acknowledge that all materials created by you in connection with your employment shall be the property of the company and that all such property, together with any other property of the company or any group company which is in your possession or custody (including, but not limited to, lists of clients and prices, all documents, records, computer hardware and software, security badges or keys, mobile phones, hot spots, company furniture, etc.), shall, whenever requested by the company and in any event upon the termination of your employment, be promptly returned by you to the company in proper condition. Other than in the proper performance of your duties, you are not entitled to and must not retain any copies of any such property, and, at the company's request, you must immediately return or permanently delete such documentation or information from any hard drive or computer system used by you, and you may be required to certify, in writing, to the company that you have done so.

Other

The health and safety measures which you must comply with at work are in line with statutory requirements and will be amended from time to time. Employers and employees both play a role in workplace safety.

There are no collective agreements currently in force which affect the terms and conditions of your employment.

If any provision of this Agreement is or becomes invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions of this Agreement shall not be affected. The parties shall replace the invalid or unenforceable provision by such valid and enforceable provision as closest corresponds to the legal and economic purpose of the original provision. Changes to these terms and conditions must be made in writing. Verbal declarations or agreements are non-binding.

The validity, construction and performance of this Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the country of your employment and both you and the company irrevocably submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts in Bangalore.
